ELECTIONS IN NEVADA.

The campaign previous to the November election has already commenced in Nevada. This may be thought early, considering that the State Conventions do not meet for more than a month. But Nevada politics, like its method of mining, are peculiar. Senator Jones has recently made his appearance at Gold Hill, and being the first United States Senator seen in Nevada for several years, except on the Overland train, his presence is duly appreciated. On Saturday night the Senator addressed the people of Nevada at Virginia City, and announced his candidacy for re-election. So far no prominent candidate has been named in opposition. Senator Jones is a Republican, but somehow party lines do not count for much in the canvass for United States Senator in that State. Senator Jones has made a record satisfactory to the people on the silver question. An effort was made by a portion of the Democratic press of Eastern Nevada to throw cold water on the Jones movement, bringing forward Judge Hillhouse but it met with no response. The other Democratic papers have declared for Jones on account of his eminent services; and at this writing it looks as if any new candidate will have a hard time in making his election sure.

There is still considerable discussion in the papers whether Jones will resign. Some of the Democratic papers are advocating that an arrangement should be made, where by if Mr. Sharon resigns, a Democrat would succeed him upon condition that the Democracy support the re-election of Senator Jones. But the trouble is no one seems to know the intention of Mr. Sharon in the matter. Next to the United States Senate, the position most sought after is that of Congressman. When (Republican) of Eureka, now holds the office. He traveled from Washington in company with Senator Jones, and if he has made his peace with the Congressmen, he will stand a good show for re-nomination. State Senator Casady, President pro tem of the last Senate, has been aspiring for the Democratic nomination. But there appears to be some hitch between him and the politicians in the western part of the State. He made a fight to get the Democratic Convention for Eureka, but was defeated.

Nature has also shaped them selves with regard to the gubernatorial office. Governor Bradley is in the field for the third term, but J. C. Hagerman of Reno is a prominent opponent. On the Republican side R. M. Duggan of the Territorial Enterprise is looking up as a prominent candidate, and should he obtain the nomination he would run strong against any nominee of the Democracy. But considerations outside ordinary party lines are so interwoven with Nevada politics that the strong est ones do not always succeed in getting places on the ticket. - S. F. Bulletin.

NEW RAILROAD DEPOT.

Sacramento Bee: "Long looked for come at last." It is now definitely settled that the new railroad depot is to be erected in the city of Sacramento, and it is understood that work on the building is to be commenced at an early date. The plans have already been received in this city, and judging from them the edifice will be a fine one, and amply large for a long time to come. The site selected is to the north of the City Hall, on the ground filed in at that point some years ago, and is a most eligible one. The building is to be two stories in height, of brick and wood, and will present, when completed, a fine architectural and ornamental appearance. On the ground floor there will be fitted up a fine bar dining room, capable of accommodating 150 persons, a ladies sitting room, a gentlemen's sitting room, baggage room, store room, etc. The second story will be fitted up for the Division Superintendent's and other offices, also the telegraph office and Train Dispatchers' rooms. The new room has long been needed, and our citizens and the traveling public will rejoice to learn that is so soon to be erected.

THE PEOPLE'S MAN.

A Virginia correspondent writes the Eureka Leader the following: I attended the picnic at Bowers' Mansion and heard the speeches of Taylor, Jones and Duggan, also the few words of Wren. The Senator overshadowed the Congressmen to such an extent that Wren was content to excuse himself with a few well chosen remarks. Jones was the lion of the hour; he is the idol of the people at this time in this section of the country, but he has enemies in ambush who are seeking to prevent his re-election. The opposition are not as yet perfectly organized, but there are old hands in the conclave, and the contest bids fair to be one of much bitterness and full of changes and counter changes, of promises broken, duties unperformed, and friends unrequited. But, notwithstanding the dissension that is in existence in the ranks of the party, Jones will carry all before him; and for once the corporations and factions will fall before the strong mind of Jones and the united efforts of the people. Numerous Democrats will support the legislative ticket that favors Jones, and the faction of the disorganizers will fall to pieces for want of a financial as well as a political head. Jones is one of the people; he is a self-made man; he is a laborer; has worked at the "long tom," and in the bed rock tunnel; has turned the course of rivers, and dug the gold from the bed of cement; has prospected for veins of silver and found it, too. As a miner, he was a success; as a Senator he has done more for the silver interests and the mining world than any other man who ever had a seat in the national councils, and as the miners of Nevada are proud of his genius, and will re-elect him without regard to who it is that opposes him.

FORNEY ON EUROPEAN BEGGARS.

The moment an American is seen in London he is known, and is seized and speculated on. At every street crossing you are beset by importunities from the organized sweepers. If you get into a cab a ragamuffin tears open the door pushes out a dirty hand for pay, and if you drive to a station you are sure to find a beggar waiting there to levy contributions on you. The janitor at the Museum, the guide at the show gardens, the conductor on the railroads, are all candidates for the shilling. The street paupers of the French Capital are few; the vice of drink does not turn the men into fiends and the women into slaves, and the habit of economy in the little all to the work people makes that little go far in promoting their cleanliness and self-respect. But the beggars of Italy! Heaven save the mark! What a set they are! Hard times seem to have made them harder, dirtier and more repulsive. The very Italian children are taught to solicit alms before they can syllable their prayers. The priests implore you for sequins in the cathedrals and churches, cripples hold out his pallid hand, the leper exposes his hideous nose, the consumptive looks from her dying eyes—all for money; and when you decline they hurl their bitter epithets after you. This curse is exceptionally scarce in Germany, and in Switzerland it is rapidly passing away.

TRAGEDIES OF NIAGARA.

At the falls one August afternoon, Miss Lottie Pailpoit chose one of the most dangerous currents below the Cave of the Winds, in which to bathe. A young man named Ebelbert Parsons stood by to protect her if possible from her rashness. She was suddenly swept away. He swam after her, reached her, and turning on his back, bade her place one of her hands upon his shoulder. She did so, and as both behaving with coolness, the friends who watched them hoped that both would regain the shore. But the eddies grew too strong and threatened to engulf them. The young girl seeing that her would be saviour was overburdened, released him, threw up her hands with a despairing gesture, and sank from sight. Instantly he turned and dived for her. The swirling pools beneath witnessed their last struggles, and on the next day both of their bodies were recovered from the whirlpool. At Luna Island, a young man named Charles Adlington of Buffalo, playfully lifted the little daughter of a lady who was with him, and cried: "Hi, now, I am going to throw you in!" The child, with a spasmodic leap, escaped from his hands and fell into the fierce current of the river. "Oh, my God!" shouted young Adlington, and her spring in with a hopeless impulse to save her. In less than a minute both these waifs upon the rapids were borne over and mangled beneath the falls.

Farmers in Pleasant Valley and on the Big Meadows are busily engaged harvesting. Crops are said to be a good average on nearly all the ranches in Southern and Western Humboldt. Harvesting grain has not yet begun in Paradise Valley, though wheat and barley are said to be nearly ready for the reaper on many of the ranches. - Silver State.

Our Prison.

The Enterprise says: "From a hasty examination we conclude that the Nevada State Prison is being as thoroughly and carefully managed as any institution of the kind in the world. The discipline among the officers and guards is as perfect as was ever seen in a military camp, and every precaution against surprise, and every means to throttle in a moment an insurrection, seem to have been anticipated and provided for. And among the officers are some men who are a whole host in themselves, as they have more than once proven in their lives on this coast. The Nevada State Prison is just now a tough place to emigrate from unless a person has a legitimate pass."

The Carr trial on the navy pay certificates in the United States Circuit Court, San Francisco, came to a quick conclusion on Tuesday. The defense offered no evidence and after hearing the evidence for the prosecution, including the testimony of Pinney, the Court ordered the jury to find for the defendant. What will the Chronicle say now? And when will the Page-Sargent libel suits be up again?

In the Cabinet Tuesday a letter from the Mexican authorities was submitted by Secretary Everts charging that Americans had been crossing into Mexico, stealing cattle and driving them across the Rio Grande into the United States. No action was taken.

It is reported that Secretary Sherman proffered the New York Collectorship to Postmaster James, but the latter declined the honor. Postmaster James is the most popular official in New York City. All, irrespective of party, agree on that point.

Jim McCua's Workingmen's paper, the Telephone, makes up a State Ticket for 1879, with Henry Larkin, of El Dorado, for Governor, and John McCoy, of Nevada, for Comptroller.

An assessment of 25c per share has been levied on the El Dorado South Consolidated, delinquent August 30th.

Sierra Nevada 11, Alta 9%, and so on, was very encouraging from yesterday afternoon's stock market.

Grant and Butler is the ticket of the Louisville Republican for 1880.

WHOSE FAULT?

The people of this State have repeatedly growled about the way in which the men they have elected to the Legislature have discharged their duties. Measures of importance to the general interests have been neglected or allowed to be defeated by individuals or corporations whose interests are in conflict with those of the community; bills for the benefit of individuals taking money from the public treasury and putting it into the pockets of political business, have quietly slid through, while an outspoken word against either of the giant corporations that are robbing the people has not been heard, or only rarely. Whose fault is it that men who proved tools in the hands of a few, against the interests of the many, have been elected? In every community there are men who seek legislative position for the money there is in it, for the chances there may be to hold their hands behind them where "great interests are at stake and strong passions excited." These men are always prominent before primaries and conventions, and are always ready to pay any amount of assessments and purchase any quantity of poor whisky. That this class of men has too often been elected to our Legislature, is the fault of the whole people. Men who would honorably discharge the duties of the position to the best of their ability, seldom seek the office and refuse to spend money when they know that there can be no return, unless through dishonor. If we elect the professional politicians we have no right to find fault with their work—they go to the Legislature for their own purposes and it should be expected they would seek to accomplish them. The next session of the Nevada Legislature will be of unusual importance. There will be a strong effort made to repeal the tax on the product of the mines; there is a delinquent tax of $725,000 hanging over the productive mines of the Comstock, one, perhaps two United States Senators to elect, and our internal revenue to be overhauled. Besides this, the unjust discriminations of the Central Pacific Railroad against the people of this State calls loudly for legislative action, and our local railroads need attention. In times past the great corporations have almost invariably controlled enough of the members of our Legislature to accomplish their purpose, and unless the people adopt a different policy in the selection of their representatives from what has been pursued heretofore, they will control the next. Whoever is elected, it will be the vote of the people that does it. There never has been a time when greater care should be used in the selection of members of the Legislature. Nothing should stand in the way of our calling out the best men in every county for these positions; no matter how poor or how rich the right man may be, how reluctant he may be to run, let the office seek the man, and the best. It is the people's fault if anything less than our best men are sent to the next Legislature.

The United States Indian Agent at Lemhi, Idaho, writes the Commissioner of Indian Affairs announcing the murder, by two or more Indians belonging to Lemhi Agency, of Bannock John, an old Indian well known in that section as a desperado. It appears Bannock John murdered a white man a few days ago on Camas prairie and the Indians feared retaliation on the part of the whites. The news reached one of the Indian camps that ten of their number were murdered by whites in Round Valley while hunting. After hearing of this slaughter the blame was laid on Bannock John, and a few of the Indians formed a conspiracy for his assassination, which was successfully carried out.

A DISPATCH from Silver City, Idaho, dated July 30th, says: "Much excitement prevails here in consequence of the movements of the hostiles at Cow Creek Lake and vicinity. The depredations committed within the past twenty-four hours have alarmed settlers at Camp Lagoon and vicinity, and they are in consequence abandoning their stock and property in every section liable to be visited by the returning hostiles. Volunteers are getting ready to move, and there is every prospect of a collision this week."

DENNIS KEARNEY's arrival in Boston is creating quite an excitement in Eastern political circles. It is thought Kearney and Ben Butler will work together during the Fall elections.

THINKS THERE IS NO DANGER.

A joint resolution of Congress passed shortly before the close of the session instructed the President to call the attention of the English and Chinese Governments to the necessity of a modification of the treaties connected with Chinese emigration. This throws the duty of taking action in regard to the matter upon the President. In order that he may act understandingly, Colonel F. A. Bee, the Attorney of the Six Chinese Companies, is preparing a statement of the number of Chinese in California, and of the course of travel backward and forward since they began to come. The statement, which is not yet completed, will be chiefly statistical, as we learn from the San Francisco papers, and Colonel Bee says that it will completely dispel all idea of danger of California being Mongolianized, as it will show that the number of Chinese residing in the State is much less than is generally supposed, and does not exceed 65,000. Allowing for deaths, returns home and departures for South America and the islands, the number has of late considerably decreased. Colonel Bee further states that of his own knowledge the Chinese Government is not only not averse to but actually favors a revision of the existing treaty, and he considers that there ought to be no difficulty in coming to an arrangement satisfactory to both parties, provided only that facts are taken as a basis instead of the wild misstatements so often set forth, and this is the object of his communication. One obstacle to a proper adjustment lies, in his opinion, in the jealousy of the English Government at the encroachment of American influence and trade with a country where the English have always held by far the first place among foreigners. This jealousy leads them to exaggerate the hostility shown by Americans against Chinese emigration, and to endeavor to poison the minds of the Chinese against Americans in general, to the detriment of the commerce and interests of this country, and for their own advantage. Of course it is Col Bee's duty, for the money he receives, to make the worse appear better, but he will find that it cannot be done. We have had too many illustrations not to know that Chinese are a curse to this Coast, and the people have come to the conclusion that there is but one plan safe to pursue, and that is, to absolutely put a stop to further immigration, and return to China those already here. We must nip this thing right in the bud, and now is the time to do it.

JAMES GORDEN BENNETT contemplates a double expedition to the North Pole, one vessel going by way of Behring's Straits and the other by way of Spitzbergen. He has been in consultation with Peterman, the great German geographer, and other Arctic experts abroad, and now proposes to fit his well known yacht, the Dauntless, for an additional Arctic expedition, putting in her an auxiliary engine and screw. He wishes the Navy Department to furnish for the Dauntless the necessary crew, officers and provisions.

The growth of the wood trade on the river above the Cascades is very great. Enormous quantities of wood are being shipped to the Dalles.

The whole number of citizens killed by the Indians in Grant county is estimated by the Times at eleven. It thinks the citizens killed forty Indians.

They fortified the University at Le Grand during the Indian excitement. It is a brick edifice and could have been defended against any Indian force.

The popular receptions to Hon John P. Jones throughout Nevada show the appreciation in which he is held by the people. This gallant champion of currency reform comes back to his adopted State crowned with new honors and with his name known as a power throughout the Union. But for his tireless efforts and able arguments the silver bill might have been buried in a Congressional waste basket. If ever a man deserved a re-election it is he.—Sac. Bee.

SHARON'S SUCCESSOR.

The Eureka Leader writes as follows upon a subject creating quite a stir in political circles:

Since his election, Senator Sharon has been able to give but little attention to the duties of his office. The great private interests in which he has been engaged have absorbed his time and attention, and the public interests, which the people of the State expected him to watch over and care for, have received little of his thought. This state of things is, in no degree, satisfactory to the party which placed him in his high position, nor to the people of the State, who justly look to him to represent them in the Senate. We have been informed, but perhaps not by competent authority, that it is the intention of Mr. Sharon, in case a Republican Legislature shall be elected this Fall, to resign his office and let a successor be chosen who can give to the office the time and attention it demands. Should this occur there will, of course, be a number of candidates for the position. Among those prominently named, from the western portion of the State, we may mention Judge Masick, Jonas Seely, Judges Lewis, Whitman and others; in Eastern Nevada, the names of Hon. W. W. Bishop and Congressman Wren are most frequently spoken of in connection with that office, should Mr. Sharon resign. The recommendation of Mr. Wren for Congress is highly probable, and in the canvass for that place his talents would find field for active employment. For the Senatorship, Mr. Bishop would rally to his support the entire Republican strength of Eastern Nevada, while in the West he has hosts of friends who will for this position give him the support they have freely given before for other positions. Among all named for the place none possess greater strength and fitness for the place than Mr. Bishop. Widely known, an accomplished lawyer and advocate, a Republican of the truest metal and life long devotion, we know of no one to whom the interests of the State in the United States Senate could be more safely trusted than to Hon. W. W. Bishop.

SENATOR JONES.

Nothing could be in better taste than the remarks of Senator Jones at Virginia City on the occasion of a public reception tendered him by his fellow citizens and constituents. His appreciation of the duties and responsibilities of electors, and of their representatives in the National Congress, stand alone amongst the utterances of our public men for its tenaciousness and vigor. It would not be easy to improve upon it. Senator Jones is a candidate for re-election to the United States Senate. He stands upon his record, and upon this alone. It is not for him to promise; his past work in the index to the volume of services the State of Nevada may expect if he is returned to the Senate. On the leading questions of the day—remonetization of silver, railroad monopoly and Chinese immigration—he has placed himself fairly before the country. He is in accord with popular sentiment, and will doubtless be returned to the Senate by acclamation. In re-electing Senator Jones Nevada would do honor to itself.—S. F. Post.

Settle Up.
Mr. S. A. Gibson gives notice that he desires all owing him to settle immediately. Mr. G. has retired from business and proposes to leave on Monday for the Northern country. All interested will do well to pay either Mr. G. or Harry Black as soon as possible.

Treasurer.
D. B. Boyd announces himself for County Treasurer, subject to the decision of the Republican County Convention. Dan is one of the oldest residents of the county, is honest and capable, has heretofore held positions of honor and profit, and in no single instance exists good cause for complaint. He is a good man for any position, and if nominated for Co. Treasurer will certainly be elected. He can give as good a bond as the next man, and the Republican Convention will not commit a mistake if Dan receives the nomination.

In Bad Condition.
Complaint is made to us that the road leading to Glendale is in an awful bad condition, being rougher than there is any necessity for, if the proper authorities would do their duty. The Peavine road to the State line also needs attention, being perfectly disgraceful; full of rocks, and in one place damaged by a ditch. We hope that the Road Supervisors of Reno and Glendale districts will give this matter their attention, and put the roads in good traveling condition, or explain the reason why.

Arm Broken.
Yesterday afternoon little Eva Neale, daughter of A. C. Neale, had the misfortune of breaking her right arm near the wrist. It seems that Eva was playing with some other little girls. One of them had twisted herself up in a swing and was allowing it to untwist. Eva tried to stop the rapidly revolving swing and in doing so received a blow that caused the fracture. Surgical aid was promptly summoned and the broken limb reset.

A Complete Success.
We are indebted to Mr. John Frazier for the information that $1,000 in bullion was shipped from the "Success" mill yesterday morning, being the result of less than four days' run, which shows that there is money in those Washoe tailings, and as it will take five years to work them up, the owners have a nice little bonanza.

Off the Track.
A special tea train was ditched two miles this side of Bronco last night. We could not learn the cause nor the amount of damage done. Wrecking trains were sent from Truckee and Washoe to clear the track. The lightning was said to have struck here and held until the road was cleared. All the trains were delayed by the accident.

Died of His Wounds.
A freight train ran into a handcar upon which were several Western Union line repairers near Emigrant Gap on Monday last, dumping them off very unceremoniously. One of them, R. Yerington received wounds which resulted in death. Frank Bell has gone to take charge of the remains.

"Dollar of Our Duddy."
W. T. O. Elliott has in his possession one of the original dollars of our daddies. It bears date of 1813, and was one of the first coined. It was the first ever coming under our notice, and we like the looks of it much better than the new one. Ask Elliott to show you the curiosity.

The Picnic.
It was rather too windy to be pleasant yesterday, and the little ones of the Episcopal Sunday School were very much chagrined at the weather clerk. But they nevertheless tried to have a jolly time at the picnic on Wellman's Island, and so far as we could learn, succeeded.

Not So Well.
Mr. B. B. Norton has not been quite so well for the past two days, and his friends are again despondent at his condition, as the fear is gaining ground that the worst is not yet over.
